

Verifeye Cameras

Licensing have received the following announcement from Les Slater:

I am sorry to have to inform everyone that I am no longer able to replace or repair camera heads. This is due to they stopped manufacturing the first model 6 years ago and Verifeye as a company closed down 3 years ago. I have now run out of spares and supplies of them, I have enough to honor warranty on parts supplied in the last year.

The council were aware in January that this was originally going to happen about June but obviously the current situation delayed it until September.

Other repairs and swap overs are still possible.

Many thanks for your support

Les Slater
