Achieve is a flexible programme which responds to the needs of young people. The Achieve programme supports 13 to 19 year olds to develop the skills and confidence needed to engage and succeed in education, through relevant, engaging and informal learning. We support young people to improve their attainment, attendance, personal and social skills and engagement with education.

The flexible programme covers five modules:

- Personal, Social Development
- Life Skills
- Active Citizenship
- Enterprise Projects
- Preparation for Work

The Achieve programme can help young people to:

- Improve attainment in education
- Improve attendance at their school or centre
- Improve behaviour, attitude and engagement in learning
- Develop personal and social skills
- Work toward the Personal Development and Employability qualification, recognised by the qualification regulators in Scotland, England, Wales and Northern Ireland
- Benefit from an informal approach to learning outside the traditional classroom setting

The Achieve programme supports young people who have experienced:

- Difficulties with understanding school work and underachievement in class
- A lack of confidence and self-esteem
- A record of truancy and absenteeism
- Alienation, isolation or bullying
- Distracting, disruptive and aggressive behaviour
- A serious risk of exclusion

As a delivery partner on the Achieve programme, you will:

- Have a dedicated Programme Executive to look after you and support you in all aspects of delivering the programme
- Access training, networking and development opportunities, and best practice tools and teaching resources
- Join The Prince’s Trust network, including other education partners as well as employers and corporate partners. Some partners in our network can provide enrichment opportunities in STEM, arts and sport for young people on Achieve.
- Work with Prince’s Trust staff to respond to the needs of individual young people and be supported if you wish to refer young people to further support from the Prince’s Trust.
