When can a child start working?

The Local Authority must be notified within one week of the child being offered employment*. Any child working without a required work permit is deemed to be employed illegally and therefore may not be covered by the employers insurance. You may be liable to prosecution by the Local Authority should you be deemed to be illegally employing a child.

Risk Assessments

In the case of school age employees, you need to pay particular attention to the young person's lack of experience in the workplace when completing your assessment. Employers are responsible for the health, safety and welfare of the children they employ and must make sure they are suitably clothed and equipped for the job they are doing.
