ABOUT APF

APF represents the needs of families affected by imprisonment in England and Wales. It encourages the development of, and acts as a voice for, organisations providing support to these families. Since it was set up in 1990, APF has been working to raise awareness of the impact imprisonment has on the children and families left behind.

More than 130,000 people are sent to prison every year in England and Wales, leaving behind them children and families to suffer the stigma and hardship that often comes with the imprisonment of a family member.

APF also co-ordinates the Prisoners' Families' Helpline, which offers information and support to anyone with a relative or friend in prison. 0808 808 2003
